JEFFERSON CITY, March 18 --A writ of ouster sought by Attorney-General McKittrick against the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. of-way of State highways for its sation to the State, was denied toen banc, and the suit dismissed.

The court held the company's use of the highway rights-of-way was authorized by law, and declared the act granting this authority was con-

The suit was designed to make it possible for the State to compensation from telephone companies for use of the rights-of-way of public roads, by knocking out the existing law granting such use with-out compensation. While the test out compensation. case applied to all of the Southwestern Bell's surface and under ground lines along highways, it chiefly involved a telephone conduit between St. Louis and Kansas City, along the route of United States Highway No. 40. Opinion by Judge Collet.

Judge J. C. Collet, who wrote the lature in 1851 granted telegraph lines for "electric telegraphs" upon and along any of the highways. The act was amended about 1879, to include telephone companies. It later was amended to permit such lines "along and across" highways.

In 1921 the Legislature passed an additional act giving the State Highway Commission authority to designate the location of telephone telegraph rights-of-way of State highways, but expressly prohibiting the con mission from excluding such lines from the rights-of way.

Judge Collet held the company "is exercising only the authority and privileges which the statute Benefit to Public.

He overruled a contention that the law was in conflict with conprovisions prohibiting the Legislature from making any grant of public money or things o value to any individual, association, municipality or corporation "The respondent is a public utility engaged in furnishing telephone the general Judge Collet said. "The General Assembly no doubt considered that the benefit to the general public arising from the promotion of the extension of such service justified the granting of the privilege of the use of highways. While that benefit may not be said to be a formal consideration, as that term is generally understood, yet it is that benefit and that consideration which takes this grant out of the class of grants prohibited by the The other six Judges of court en bane concurred. Evidence in the case showed the company has 317,212 poles, 88,786 miles of wire, 299 miles of conduit and 643 miles of cable along or

This obvious strategy was based on the assumption that this being election year, this session of Congress should appropriate as little as possible for relief next year, and thus put the responsibility on the new Congress to vote additional relief funds.

"The ultimate cost of the Federal Works Program," the President continued. "will thus be deter mined by private enterprise. Federal assistance which arose as a of industrial disemployment can be terminated if industry itself removes the underlying conditions. Should industry co-operatively achieve the goal of re-employment, the appropriation of $1,500,000,000 together with the unexpended balfectiveness by increasing employances of previous appropriations will suffice to carry the Federal Works program through the fiscal

Text of Roosevelt Message on Relief

THE text of President Roosevelt's message to Congress on the new relief program follows: To the Congress of the United

In my budget message of Jan. 9, 1936, I reserved making a ecommendation for an appro priation for the relief of unem ployment, stating that an esti-mate and recommendation could be better made at a later date. I am now prepared to submit such a recommendation, and this message should be regarded as supplemental to the budget

In asking the Congress for an appropriation to meet the needs of the destitute unemployed during the coming fiscal year, certain facts should be clearly (1) Since the spring of 1938, there has been a gain in re-employment in each successive year. At least 5,000,000 more people were at work in December, 1935, than in March, 1933. (2) In spite of these great gains, there are at present approximately 5,300,000 families and unattached persons who are in need of some form of public assistance—3,800,000 families and unattached persons on the works program and 1,500,000 on local and state relief rolls. Every thinking person knows that this problem of unemployment is the most difficult one before the Many Others Unemployed.

(3) These figures, large as they are, do not of course include all those who seek work these figures is included the on relief but who are experiencing great difficulties in main taining independent support. Neither are there included many others not on the relief rolls who are content with occasional employment; nor some who are desire to work; nor many young are obliged to share the livelihood earned by their parents. Because of the impossibility of an exact definition of what of stitutes unemployment, no figures which purport to estimate the total unemployed in the nation can be even approximately accurate.

(4) Nearly all the 1,500,000 unemployable families or unemployable unattached persons are being cared for almost wholly from state or local funds. A very small number of these families or individuals have begun to receive a comparatively small provisions of the Social Security The foregoing figures indicate the problem before us. It is a problem to be faced not merely by the Congress and the executive, not merely by the representatives of government in the states and localities, but by all of the American people. It is not exclusively the problem of the poor and the unfortunate themselves. It is more particularly the problem of those who have been more fortunate under our system of government and our

It will not do to say that these should shift for themselves. It to take that attitude. Neither will it do to say that it is a problem for the states and the localities. If we concede that it is primarily the duty of each locality to care for its destitute unemployed, and that if its resources are inadequate, it must then turn to the state for help, we must still face the fact that the credit and the resources of local governments and states have been freely drawn upon in the last few years and they have not been sufficient.

It has been said by persons gnorant or careless of the truth that Federal relief measures encouraged states, counties and municipalities to shirk their duty and shift their financial responsibilities to the Federal Government. The fact is that during 1935 state and local governments spent $466,000,000 for emergency relief, which was 13 per cent more than these governmental bodies spent in 1934; 49 per cent more than they spent in 1933; and 58 per cent more than they spent in 1932. Let it also be noted that the great majority of state and local governments are today taking care not only of the 1.500,000 unemployables, but are also conWASHINGTON, March 18.

tributing large amounts to the Federal works program.

Constitutional Limitations. To expect that states and municipalities should at the present time bear a vastly increased proportion of the cost of relief is to ignore the fact that there are state constitutional limitations. and the fact that most of our counties and municipalities are only now emerging from tax delinquency difficulties. Let us further remember that by far the largest part of local taxes is levied on real estate. To increase this form of tax burden on the small property owners of the nation would be unjustified. It is ly few, have taken an undue adtions, but most states have co-operated whole-heartedly in rais ing relief funds, even to the extions. It is not desired in the next fiscal year to encourage any states to continue to shirk Federal Government cannot maintain relief for unemployables in any state.

The Federal Government, then faces the responsibility of con tinuing to provide work for the needy unemployed who cannot be taken care of by state and local Figures on the Cost. During the current fiscal year the cost of relief actually paid out of the Treasury will amount to approximately $3,500,000,000.

During the next fiscal year, 1937, more than $1,000,000,000 will be spent out of the Treasury from prior year appropriations. Practically all of these expenditures will be from allocations made to large projects which could not possibly be completed within this fiscal year. In addition to this amount, the budget contains estimated expenditures aggregating $600,000,000 from appropriations recommended for and various public works. If to this total of $1,600,000,000 there were added $2,000,000,000 to be expended for relief in the fiscal year 1937, the total for this purpose would just about equal the amount that is being low expended in the fiscal year 1936. An appropriation in this amount would be within the limit set by the budget message and would in effect provide for the third successive year a reduction in the deficit. New Taxes Needed.

This statement as to the budget program, of course, depends upon the action of the Congress with respect to the substitute taxes, the reimbursement taxes and the new taxes, which I recommended to replace the new revenue made necessary by the decision of the Supreme Court invalidating the Agricultural Adjustment Act and by the action of the Congress in appropriating for the immediate payment at the 1945 value of the veterans' adjusted service certificates. This latter action, as you will recall, requires additional revenue in the amount of $120,000,000 annually for nine years. The agricultural program requires an-000,000 and there must be raised within the next three years $517,000,000 of revenue to reimburse the Treasury for processing taxes lost in this fiscal year reason of the Supreme

I am, however, not asking this Congress to appropriate two billion dollars. Asks for $1,500,000,000.

I am asking only for an appro priation of $1,500,000,000 to the Works Progress Administration. It will be their responsibility to provide work for the destitute unemployed. This request to-gether with those previously submitted to the Congress to pro-vide for the Civilian Conservation Corps and certain public works will, if acted upon favorably by the Congress, give security during the next fiscal year to those most in need, on condition, however, that private employers hire many of those now on relief rolls. The trend of re-employment is upward. But this trend, at its present rate of progress, is inadequate. I propose, therefore, that we ask private business to extend its operations so as to absorb an increasing number of dence that large and small employers by individual and unco-ordinated action can absorb large numbers of new employes.

A vigorous effort on a national scale is necessary by voluntary, dustry.

Under the National Recovery Administration, the nation learned the value of shorter hours in their application to a whole industry. In almost every case, the shorter hours were approved by the great majority of individual operators within the industry. To the Federal Government was given the task of policing against the minority who came to be known as "chiselers." It was clear that 'chiseling" by a few would undermine and eventually destroy the large, honest majority. But the public authority to require the shorter hours agreed upon has been seriously curtailed by limitations recently imposed by the Supreme Court upon Federal as well as state powers. Nevertheless, while the provisions of the anti-trust laws, intended to prohibit restraint of trade, must and shall be fully and vigorously enforced, there is nothing in these or any other laws which would prohibit managers of private business from orking together to increase production and employment. Such efforts would indeed be the direct opposite of a conspiracy in restraint of trade. Many private employers believe that if left to themselves they can accomplish the objectives we all seek.

Urges Private Aid. We have learned the difficulties of attempting to reduce hours of work in all trades and industries to a common level or to increase all wage payments at a uniform rate. But in any single industry we have found that it is possible by united action to shorten hours, increase employment, and, at the same time. maintain weekly, yearly earnings of the individual. It is my belief that if the leaders in each industry will organize a common effort to increase employment within that industry, employment will increase sub stantially.

Insofar as their efforts successful, the cost to the Fedthe destitute unemployed will be lessened, and, if the employment gains are substantial enough, no additional appropriation by the next Congress for the fiscal year 1937 will be necessary.

The ultimate cost of the Federal works program will thus be determined by private enterprise. as a result of industrial disem industry itself removes the underlying conditions. Should industry co-operatively achieve the goal of re-employment, the appropriation of $1,500,000,000, together with the unexpended balances of previous appropriations. will suffice to carry the Federal works program through the fiscal year 1937. Only if industry fails to reduce substantially the number of those now out of work will another appropriation and further plans and policies be "The Task of Industry."

It is the task of industry to make further efforts toward increased output and employment; and I urge industry to accept this problem and this opportunity definitely to the managers of private business; and I offer in aid of its solution the co-operation of all the appropriate departments and agencies of the Federal Government. My appeal is to the thinking men who are assured of their daily bread. However we may divide along the lines of economic or political faith, all rightminded Americans have a common stake in extending production, in increasing employment, and in getting away from the burdens of relief.

Those who believe that Government may be compelled to assume greater responsibilities in the operation of our industrial system can make no valid obection to a renewed effort on the part of private enterprise to insure a livelihood to all willing workers. Those, on the other hand, who believe in complete freedom of private control without any Government participa-tion should earnestly undertake to demonstrate their effectiveness by increasing employment. Director Atkins of Research Institute Estimates Amount Available in

ECONOMIES TO SAVE $1,000,000 INVOLVED

factual finding that out of present State revenues and without an increase of taxes, the State will have more than $4,000,000 available for relief expenditures this year was made public today by Carter Atkins, director of the Governmental Research Institute, formerly the Bureau of Municipal Re-

Atkins argued in an institute bulletin that if Gov. Park would con vene the Legislature for the sole purpose of appropriating money for relief purposes, there would be no necessity for a new tax bill, and the relief situation could be taken care of. All present direct relief funds, Federal and State, will be exhausted by April 15, and the condition which may then develop has aroused the St. Louis Relief Committee to call on the Governor to onvene the Legislature to pass the necessary appropriation bill. The plan set up by Atkins would call for economies in State expenditures for other purposes to save about $1,000,000 for relief. The Governor recently asked members of the Legislature whether they favored a special session ming in his letter to them that additional taxes would be necessary, and asking them whether they would vote to increase taxes. Nearly all the replies he has received indicate an almost unanimous opposition to higher taxes. Figuring It Out.

Caulfield's Example. Former Gov. Caulfield established a precedent for curtailment of expenses, enforcing a reduction of 25 per cent in the expenditures of all departments under the control of the Governor in 1932.

When the sales tax was doubled by the 1935 Legislature and the ount of the liquor tax was fixed, it was the understanding that the receipts from these sources would be used for relief, old-age pensions and other eleemosynary purposes. The Institute estimates the receipts from sales tax and liquor tax for the 1935-36 biennium at $28,597,913. It found the total appropriations for these purposes were $14,732,979, leaving $13,864,934 for other purposes. Deducting from this the onetwo taxes were available for other purposes than the appropriations wrapped in blankets. The chief es-

DECREE OUTLAWS IN FIRE INSURANCE CASE APPEALED FASCISM IN SPAIN

Fight Against Judge Sevier's Allowances to Supreme Court.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, March 18 .-

An appeal to the Missouri Supreme Court from the various orders issued by Judge Nike Sevier of Cole County Circuit Court, in connection with an allowance of $100,000 in additional fees to two commissioners and one attorney in one of the pending fire insurance rate cases, was filed today by Attorney-Gener-al McKittrick and the State Insurance Department.

An appeal also was taken from an order issued last month which released the fire insurance companies involved in this case from any further liability, after they had paid into Court a final judgment of $1,-073,000 against them for unrefunded excess premiums due policyholders, and interest.

The Attorney-General contended the release of the companies from extremist groups which profited in further liability would relieve them the voting. further liability would relieve them of the costs of handling and disof the costs of handling and dis-tributing the $2,750,000 in excess the army to announce its loyalty the principal of the impounded

Checks for the fees were issued after the allowances were ordered March 3, and before the Attorney-General could prepare and file a rehearing motion, two days later. The motion was submitted today after a hearing in which Assistant Attorney-General Harry G. timber lands.

The intervenors joined with the original plaintiffs in asking that the alleged will be probated and in claiming that the will never had been revoked or superseded. It was asserted that the will was executed in St. Louis June 30, 1908.

Mrs. Edenborn, the plaintiffs alleged, concealed the will in order to deprive them of their inheritance, and became the sole beneficiary of the estate. Plaintiffs were Paul Hessmer of Long Island, N. Y., and his brothers and sisters. Reinhold. Hans. Fritz, Clara and Paula Hessmer, and Mrs. Emilie H. Berner, all of Solin-

gen, Germany.

Edenborn died at his home here in May, 1926, aged 78. It was de-clared in a suit in St. Louis in 1928, in which Mrs. Sophie Meier of Gumbo, St. Louis County, claimed daughter's share of his estate, that no will was found. Mrs. Meier settled her claim for $300,000. Mrs. Edenborn obtained the bulk of the estate. She has no living children.

Washington University Also Named in Will.

Washington University also was named as a beneficiary in the purported will, for 1½ per cent of the estate. It has not filed a claim, but has been watching developments in the case. Joseph H. Zumbalen, secretary-treasurer of the university, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that Edenborn had written "canceled" across the face of the will, and that this would not serve to revoke the instrument in Missouri, but that there were divergent opinions as to whether it constituted revocation under Louisiana law.

$300,000 MORE IN DISTRICT FEDERAL INCOME TAX RECEIPTS Makes Necessary Revision in Pre-vious Estimates of $5,700,000 by Collector Sheehan.

Revision upward had to be made today in previous estimates of Federal income tax payments, for the return filing which ended at mid-night Monday, in the Eastern Dis-trict of Missouri, comprising the City of St. Louis and 54 counties. The latest estimate of Thomas J. Sheehan, district Collector of Internal Revenue, was $5,700,000 or $300,-000 more than his estimate of yesterday. Last year's figure, at the onding time, was $3,300,000. Hess fulbertson

It in-cluded also estimates of $200,000 to come from taxpayers to whom extension of five to 15 days were granted. Receipts in yesterday's mail were $400,000.

No distinction was made, in the figures, between those paying onefourth and those paying a larger amount, hence the initial collections collections for the year would be.

The number of returns eral lowering of the assessment of made in the district, as told yester-day, was estimated at 92,000 to 95,-000, as compared with 83,000 last months ago that valuations of homes would be reduced. This year's assessment of all real made as of last June 1, was $896,130,620, compared with $917,-263,570 for last year.

Returns on personal property valuations for this year amounted to $68,220,910, exclusive of banking corporations, compared with $66,-145,130 last year, not counting $16,-885,780 for banking corporations last year. Assessment of the banks this year must await instructions from the State Tax Commission because of a question raised over taxation of RFC stock held by them. The Supreme Court of the United States has held such stock was taxable, but there has been talk in Congress of offering a bill exempting it. The Assessor's office has not learned the amount owned by St. Louis banks.

The total assessment last year was $1,049,939,594, including the levy on public utilities fixed by the State Board of Equalization, as well as the locally valued real estate and personal property. If there should be no appreciable change in the assessments of the banks and public utilities this year, the 1936 total would be about $1,031,000.000a decrease of about $19,000,000, or about 1.8 per cent, from last year.

Coale said the real estate assess ment was the smallest since 1925. The reduction on real estate will result in a cut of $585,382 in city, chool and State taxes, if the tax rate should be the same as last year. This loss in revenue would be slightly offset by the anticipated increase in personal property values. Little change in public utility assessments was looked for.

The 1936 tax rate will be fixed within about six weeks. Last year's rate was $2.77, made up of the maximum of $1.35 for general municipal purposes, 39 cents for the city bond sinking fund, 88 cents for the Board of Education and 15 cents for the State. If the proposed sale of $2,500,000 in bonds for the river-front memorial is made city sinking fund rate may have to be increased about 3 cents. ALLEGED ROBBER TRACED BY AUTO AND ARRESTED

WPA Worker Said to Have Admitted Seven Holdups in

City and County. Police announced they cleared up seven holdups in the city and St. Louis County, committed during the last month, with the arrest last night of a man traced through an automobile.

The machine, a Falcon, was used by two men, who robbed John Fletcher, manager of a Kroger grocery at 4989 Thrush avenue, of $45 yesterday. Obtaining a description of the car from witnesses, officers located it last night in front of a tavern at 5501 Helen avenue. A man, who started to leave in the machine. was arrested.

The prisoner, a WPA worker, admitted, officers announced, that he had held up the Thrush avenue Kroger store twice, obtaining $75 there about a week ago. He also admitted robbing a Kroger store at 6127 Page boulevard, and three stores and a truck driver in St. Louis County. Two alleged accomplices, WPA workers, were arrested on the statement of the first man that one participated in the seven holdups and the other took part in six. They made denials.

IN FEDERAL PRACTICE

Says Rapid Growth of Administrative Law Has Led to Increasing Encroachment.

Rapid growth of administrative led to an increasing encroachment by laymen, not subject to profes-sional ethics or the relation of trust sional ethics or the relation of trust between attorney and client, into the field of purely legal activity, year to this year.

Administrative laws of the national government have broken down the dividing line, more clearly defined in state laws, between that which constitutes the practice of law and that which does not, the report said.

In urging the legal profession to take aggressive steps to meet this situation, both in self-preservation and in protection of public welfare the report recommended that local committees on authorized practice co-operate with the American Bar Association's Committee on Administrative Laws to obtain a revision of administrative laws enabling "to know where they lawyers

Monopolized by Laymen. Practice of administrative law rapidly was being monopolized by aymen who were appearing before oureaus and commissions having judicial powers more often than were lawyers, the report said.

"The reason is not that the lawyers are unsought," the report continued, "but that the laymen solicit the business. Why obtain legal education and pass a rigid bar examination when the laws of your country permit you to practice and do a larger volume of business without this trouble, expense and effort: This is precisely what the Federal statutes allow.'

The report then referred particularly to practice before the Treasury Department, Patent Bureau, United States Board of Tax Appeals and Interstate Commerce

"Under a system enabling laymen to appear in a representative capacity before these agencies, the pnorable standing of the legal profession is undermined and its members subjugated to a condition of servitude," the report went on. "A Vicious Competitor."

IN SUIT TO FIX SALARY eme Court Denies Writ of Mandamus to County Cir-cuit Clerk.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 18.-Circuit Clerk Oscar H. Jacobsmeyer of St. Louis County again lost today in the Missouri Supreme Court in an effort to have his official salary fixed at $5000 a year, and to remedy an oversight by the Legislature, in a 1933 act, in not pro-viding for compensation of the St. Louis County Circuit Clerk.

The Supreme Court denied an application by Jacobsmeyer for a writ of mandamus to compel the St. Louis County Court to pay him at the rate of $5000 a year. The court paid him on the basis of $3000 a year during the first five months of 1935, but nothing since. A previous application for such a writ was denied by the Supreme Court several months ago.

The application today involved an attack on constitutionality of the 1933 act, which repealed former statutes regulating the compensa-tion of Circuit Clerks, and established a new schedule of salaries,

Judge Charles T. Hays, who wrote the opinion, declined to rule on the constitutional question, holding Jacobsmeyer did not have a legal right, under the circumstances, maintain the proceeding.

TO ENJOIN NLRB

U. S. District Court in New York Finds Is Is Unnecessary to Pass on Constitutionality.

NEW YORK, March 18.-United States District Judge William Bondy denied the Associated Press an injunction yesterday against the National Labor Relations Board in connection with a complaint by the American Newspaper Guild that the Press Association violated the Labor Relations Act in the discharge last October of Morris Watbased on population of the counties. It did not definitely provide for the salary of the St. Louis County Circuit Clerk.

Charge last October of Morris Watson, a Guild member and reporter. The Guild charged that Watson was fired primarily for Guild was fired primarily for Guild activity.

The Associated Press had sought to restrain the board from proceeding with the complaint on the ground that it was being subjected to injury and that the act was unconstitutional. At the same time it denied charges in the complaint that Watson was dismissed because of his activities in the Guild. Judge Bondy held "that the complainant has not shown that it will suffer any injury by reason of the mere existence of the act or the mere pendency of proceedings against it. . . that on the present application no necessity for injunctive relief has been established, and that it is therefore unnecessary to pass upon the constitutionality of Cites Supreme Court Decision. At the same time, Judge Bondy wrote: "The act is said to be unconstitutional for the reason that it purports to regulate the relations of employers and employes in industry, a matter not within the regulatory powers of Congress over interstate commerce, and because it violates the freedom of contract guaranteed by the Fifth Amend-

"The contention that the act is wholly unconstitutional seems hardly tenable in view of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in Texas & New Orleans Railroad vs. Brotherhood 281, U. S. 548, in which it was held that rela-tions between railroads and their employes are subject to regulations analogous to those under consideration. However, it is not necessary for the purposes of this decision to pass upon the constitutionality of the statute. . ."

"Even assuming that the act is wholly unconstitutional, it is well settled that the unconstitutionality of a statute is not of itself suffi-cient ground for equitable relief by injunction against its enforcement. (Boise Artesian Co. v. Boise, 213 U. S. 276,285.) Before a court of equity will enjoin the enforcement of an unconstitutional statute, some valid ground for equitable jurisdiction must be shown."

Access to Evidence.

Judge Bondy noted that "the act does not give the board or its investigators any authority to enter complainant's place of business or to examine its records or to interview complainant's employes on complainant's premises without complainant's acquiescence other wise than by order of the court under Section II of the act. The provision that the board shall have access to evidence must be read in connection with the provisions for the issuance and enforcement of subpenas.

"Subpenas of the board are not enforceable without intervention of the court. In case of contumacy or refusal to obey the subpena of the board, it can merely apply to a court for an order requiring obedience to the subpena. Only such a court order is enforceable by court proceedings.

"No poll to determine representatives of complainant's employes for collective bargaining becomes injurious to the employer merely because it is conducted by a governmental board instead of by employes themselves, although the board may be better equipped than the employes to conduct a poll successfully.

"Certification by the board of the names of representatives selected by the complainant's employes will constitute no more than a mere finding of fact without mandatory relief. A finding of fact in itself is no basis for injunctive relief. No enforceable order may be entered upon the basis of this finding until the complainant shall have refused to bargain with the representatives

"Then the board may enter an order requiring the complainant to bargain with the designated representatives; but this order, like all other orders of the board, is enforceable, not by the board, but only by the court."

Provision in the act for punish-ments, Judge Bondy said, "cannot be construed to provide sanctions to compel obedience to the board's orders, for the enforcement of which the statute requires affirmative orders.

"Should the board apply to the courts for an enforceable order, an objection to the court's jurisdiction at that time, on the ground it was conferred by an unconstitutional enactment, will give as complete a remedy as that now sought because until that time, no order of the board will be effective and the complainant cannot suffer any injury liquidate voluntarily, has made no Testimony as to liquidate voluntarily, has made no plans for future use of its large factory. It is incorporated for $300,000. Brown, who resides in Huntleigh, owns the majority of justment managers for court approval of $372,000 of the fund, and return to the road of the balance of $28,000. John G. Lonsdale, one of the two trustees of the road in bankruptcy, has filed objections to the report and submitted a counterclaim of $318,850 against the readjustment managers, composed of executives of the road.

In the course of the hearing, which began yesterday, it developed that the readjustment managers, who finally abandoned their activi-ties in attempting to put the road "Country Club Shop" on a sound financial basis, already had paid out $204,000 from the fund, chiefly for printing, advertising and legal fees. On hand, for payment subject to the approval of the Federal Court, are bills for $168,000 additional, chiefly for legal

One of these items is for $75,000 to the New York law firm of Cravath, DeGersdorff, Swaine & Wood, which already had received $25,000 on the eve of the road's entry into receivership. Another bill was for $15,000 from the St. Louis law firm of Carter & Jones, which already had received $10,000.

Still another bill was for $22,500 to Edward N. Brown, chairman of the board of the railroad, for his services as chairman of the readustment managers.

Brown is here for the hearing, as also is Robert T. Swaine of the New York law firm, who was on the witness stand today. Represented by counsel at the hearing is the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which lent the railroad $3,390,000 in June, 1932.

SHARON J. PATE SUSPENDED AS BAR COMMITTEE MEMBER

Legislator Excluded by Supreme Court Pending Decision of Disbarment Suit Against Him.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 18. -State Representative Sharon J. Pate of Pemiscot County today was suspended as a member of the Bar Committee of the Thirty-eighth Judicial Circuit, by the Missouri Supreme Court, pending final determiation of disbarment charges against

The suspension as a committee member was on a motion by the court's bar advisory committee, which has general supervision of the bar disciplinary committees in each of the 38 judicial circuits.

Disbarment charges against Pate, alleging he had devised a fraudulent scheme to permit landowners in drainage districts to buy in their property, at delinquent tax sales, for the amount of costs and attorney fees, were filed recently in Pemiscot County Circuit Court, by the bar advisory committee.

Early this month the Circuit Court dismissed the case, at the request of the committee, which indicated it would be refiled in the Springfield Court of Appeals. Pate has filed an appeal, from the dismissal motion, in the Supreme Court. If his appeal is successful, the case would be reinstated in Pemiscot County.

GEORGE WHITE SAID TO HAVE PUNCHED RUDY VALLEE'S NOSE

Producer, Paper Reports, Landed Five Times in Fight on Stage of New York Theater. By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 18. - The Daily News said today that George White punched Rudy Vallee's "recently reconstructed nose" five times on the stage of the New Amsterdam Theater today at a meeting of the "Scandals" company. Among the stageside audience to the fight, the News said, were Bert Lahr, Willie and Eugene Howard, Gracie Barrie and 50 Scandals chorus girls. White, according to the News, said that Vallee called him a "nasty name."

White had called the meeting, according to the paper, to ask the cast to agree to a six-week shut-down so that he could get rid of some costly contracts in defiance of an Equity ruling. Vallee's con-tract was not involved, the paper

COLDSTREAM IS PICKED TO GIVE BREVITY HARD RACE FOR PRIZE

By Damon Runyon.

(Corright, 1936.)
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 18. -We have bad news from the West. One of its fondest hopes for the Kentucky Derby is unlikely to go to the post at Churchill Downs on May 2.

This is Marshal Field's bay colt Tintagel, winner of the Belmont Futurity, and one of the winter book favorites for Col. Matt Winn's Field's colt is accounted quite a racing prospect off his two-yearold form. He was brought to Miami for the Florida Derby, and was kicked by the Seagram's famous handicap horse, Stand Pat, during a workout, and put out of business for the time being.

It now appears that the injury was so bad that Tintagel's trainer, George Odom, has given up any idea of sending the horse to Kentucky, and his first start will probably be in the Paumonok Handicap at Jamaica in the spring.

Sir Gallahad 3rd, Sire

Tintagel is by Sir Gallahad 3rd, sire of Gallant Fox, a Derby win-ner, out of a mare called Heloise. Tintagel was second in the Arling ton Futurity at Arlington Park in Chicago last August, then was ship-ped East to win the Belmont Futurity, worth $66,450.

The new favorite for the Derby, Joseph E. Widener's Brevity, con-tinues in training at Hialeah Park, under the personal supervision of Pete Coyne, the Widener trainer. Brevity will be shipped from Hia-leah to Churchill Downs about the Almost every day sightseers go out to Hialeah to peer at the latest sensation of the turf. Brevity's feat equaling Discovery's world mark for a mile and an eighth has made him one of the best known horses in the country, and he is attracting more attention than Widener's Flamingos or Royal Palms. It is said Widener just smiled at an offer of $100,000 for Brevity. He tands to win twice that in purses if Brevity is as good as everybody The only big three-yearold stake in which Brevity is not ngaged is the Preakness.

Quite a number of good judges of race horses down here are picking Coldstream as Brevity's chief contender in the Derby, now that Tintagel seems out of it. As a mat-ter of fact, some doubted that Tintagel could go a mile and a quar-

Coldstream is reported as having wintered well in Kentucky. He is owned by the Coldstream Stud, and is by Bull Dog, out of Nimble Hoof. Bull Dog is the sire of Top Dog, and St. Bernard, and The Fighter

Bashford Manor Winner.

Coldstream as a two-year-old won the Bashford Manor, at Louisville, the Hyde Park Stakes at Arlington Park, and split the Saratoga Special in a dead heat with Red Rain. He is a very classy colt, and local horsemen seem to rate him above Hollyrood, winner of the Pimlico

Grand Slam, winner of the Arlington Futurity, the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes, Prairie State Stakes and the Pimlico Nursery Stakes, seems to be regarded as mainly a high-class mudder, but there's always the chance of mud on Derby day.

Col. Dennis E. O'Sullivan, right-hand man to Col. Matt Winn, wires us that they expect the 1936 Derby to be the greatest in history, at least in attendance. Right now they have reservations for most of the boxes, which is always a good sign.

Upwards of $100,000 is being spent of the oldest private clubs in St. Louis, started its twentieth season by electing Dr. A. J. FOR DIGESTION'S SAKE_SMOKE CAMELS

L'AIGLON, IN CHICAGO, RENOWNED FOR ITS CONTINENTAL CHARM AND CUISINE. In this delightful place, Camel cigarettes are a popular favorite with diners. "Teddy," {left} genial host to the lively crowd you see above, is an internationally famous maître d'hôtel. "We find our patrons know not only good cooking," he says, "they know good tobacco. Camels are the most popular cigarette among L'Aiglon guests."

150-POUND DYNAMO! That's Tommy Bridges, of the World Champion Detroit Tigers. Tommy says: "Ball players have to watch digestion. I find Camels a real aid in helping digestion. Camels set me right!"

WIZARD ON SKIS, Sig Buchmayr, says: "When taking off there's a gripping feeling in the stomach. I smoke Camels while eating and afterwards. It seems to me that after good food there's nothing like smoking a Camel to aid digestion and build up a fine feeling of well-being."

Smoking Camels eases tension - stimulates digestion - and fosters a feeling of well-being!

> Again and again, we make up for lost time by eating in a hurry. Digestion must meet the strain. How fortunate that smoking Camels during and after meals definitely stimulates digestion and helps to ward off the effects of our hurried, nervewracking life-by aiding and restoring the natural flow of the digestive fluids. Today, the pleasure of smoking Camels is being everywhere recognized as a comforting and healthful part of the art of dining. Camels are incomparably mild. They never get on your nerves or tire your taste. Enjoy Camels with meals and the whole day through, for their matchless blend of costlier tobaccosfor their energizing "lift"- for the welcome feeling of well-being they bring you. Camels set you-right! See how much more zest you have in smoking and in eating when you smoke Camels for digestion's sake.

We don't mean one of those "talking point" differences. We mean a real difference. Alloying Germ Processed oil goes beyond refining and re-refining. After every harmful element is cleaned out, the patented Conoco Germ Processing element is scientifically put IN.

That's what brings you this alloyed oil, with its strange attachment for pistons, cylinders, and all other engine parts - including every known type of bearing. All these parts really become oil-plated!

This oil-plating is extra. It's a plus - added to the tougher, more slippy, heat-beating Germ Processed oil film. You've got this high-durability oil film, sliding on thoroughly oil-plated surfaces, and so you're that much farther from wear and noise.

You're facing hotter days and harder runs. Out with dirty winter oil! Only the Conoco man can change you-quickly-to Germ Processed, the alloyed oil. Continental Oil Company.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, March 18.-Maxim Lit. vinov, Soviet Foreign Commissar denounced Adolf Hitler in an address yesterday before the League of Nations Council.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

"The Seven Lean Years."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE St. Louis Union Trust Co.'s adver-I tisement, entitled "The Seven Lean Years," is interesting, but it contains several erroneous arguments. "Private sur-plus is public security," reads the advertisement, and it says this is as true today as it was in Biblical times. course, it is always good argument to hark back to the Holy Word, because no one is supposed to be wise enough to dispute it. Yet we need to look at that advertisement again. As most of us can recall, the bankers and many sincere business men believed not long ago that the cause of the depression was "overproduction," or too much surplus.

In the March 18 issue of the Nation, we bankers' argument lies the old fallacy that a nation can lay aside money in good times for use in times of depres-sion. Actually, of course, this is impossible. It is possible to store up such com-modities as cotton, wheat, steel and petroleum, but the attempt to hoard money, if generally practiced, can only result in disaster. Sound economic policy dictates a full distribution and use of current production as the only means of maintaining nomic stability."

Even bankers might look with profit at the little book by David Cushman Coyle, Brass Tacks." Especially apropos to the present discussion is his section on distribution of income, wherein he says: "The fundamental requireand too much debt. Redistribution of inmeans for encouraging more spending and less saving. If some of the income is money, the factories will run and pro-duce more wealth, and the national income will be more than $400 per person. . . . Most of the additional income for the poor will not come out of the rich; it will come out of not sitting idle. The great reservoir of wealth in this country is the unemployed. By hiring the unemployed to make useful goods and services, we can get that wealth for

In this age of potential abundance, we need to recognize that the old virtue of thrift for the masses has been knocked into a cocked hat mainly because of its virtual impossibility. Corporate surplus is a social saving, not a private individ-ual saving. It should be recognized as such and treated accordingly.

A FINE PUBLIC SERVICE.

We have had frequent occasion in the last few years to remark upon the blows struck in behalf of professional honor by both local and State bar associations. Under new and aggressive leadership, these associations have performed numerous useful services in ridding the law of crooked lawyers and in toning up generally the legal profession. Now comes the St. Louis Bar Association with a new plan for the election of Judges, whose purpose is to remove, as far as is possible at the present time, the element of political partisanship in their choice

At the meeting Monday evening, when the plan was adopted, the charge was made that it is idealistic. If a concern for the improvement of the judiciary is idealistic, the charge must stand. If a conception of the judiciary as something which should transcend considerations of partisanship is idealistic, then it is refreshing to find the St. Louis Bar Association in that category. If by idealistic is practical one.

How well it succeeds depends upon two factors, neither of which can be included in any plan: First, the degree of judgment and conscientiousness with which members of the Bar Association rate the candidates for judicial office at the pre-primary referendum. Second, the willingness of the voters to accept professional opinion of judicial candidates as better informed, hence superior, to their own.

There is good ground for optimism that both factors will be reasonably approximated. Bar referenda are no new thing in St. Louis. For several years past, the bar has indicated the men who are, in its opinion, best qualified to sit on the bench. Despite some obvious faults in the system heretofore employed, it has, in the main, worked admirably. A large following of independent voters has been attracted to the Bar Association's slates.

Under the new plan, there is every reason to believe that this following will be increased to the point where, in any fairly close election, it will command the balance of power. Henceforth, when judicial candidates file for nomination, each will find the following remarks: "Back of the be subjected to the following test at the hands of his colleagues: Is he qualified to sit on the bench by reason of integrity, legal knowledge, judicial temperament, industry and experience? The men who grade highest according to these five qualities will be recommended at the primary. Only a sufficient number will be recommended to fill the available posts.

> If the voters fail to nominate the men so indicated at the primary, the next ranking men will be moved up to form the Bar Association's slate at the general election. On the ballot at that election will The port city bears that Sassenach name no longer, be a separate non-partisan judicial slate, designated but the thoroughly Gaelic name of Cobh. by a suitable emblem, containing the names of the men who, regardless of party, are deemed by the Bar Association members most worthy of sitting on the bench, or of holding the office of Prosecuting Attorney or Circuit Attorney.

It will be observed that the new plan will make taken away from the rich by taxation and given to the poor by public works and old-age pensions, the people will before the primary sometimes failed of indorsement spend more money. If they spend more in the referendum taken before the general election. impossible a repetition of the injustice in the old before the primary sometimes failed of indorsement | pect an Orangeman conspiracy. Obviously, if a candidate is worthy to be nominated, he is also worthy of election.

> The broad aim of the new plan is well expressed in the Bar Primary Committee's report, as follows:

It is, we believe, unnecessary for the members of our committee to present arguments before this association in favor of the non-partisan election of candidates to judicial positions. recommendations to this effect are not founded upon any feeling of hostility to the party system, in its proper sphere, or upon any lack of regard for the many honorable and able Judges who have heretofore adorned the bench. It is our hope that through the adoption of the plan which we propose, candidates for judicial office may ultimately be relieved of the burden of making public campaigns for election, with their attendant inconvenience, expense and assumption of obligations which are an unavoidable part of a political election.

Such campaigns are incompatible with the dignity which should clothe the judicial office. Those who preside over our courts should be untrammeled by any obligation other than their obligation to do justice and to support and faithfully administer the Constitution and laws of this State and of the United States.

The public has become peculiarly conscious in the past few months of the great role the courts play in the proper functioning of a democracy. They are, relief got his pension, but I needed it in many cases, the last line of defense against official corruption and tyranny. It is of transcendent importance that the judiciary, whether it be in courts of first instance or in those of supreme resort, represent the highest standards.

The voters of St. Louis owe it to themselves to co-operate with the Bar Association in making the new plan work successfully.

NERTS.

Work-relief projects made a new record for inanity in the radio program being sponsored by the United repudiate at their respective wills any States Office of Education "to test citizens' general and all international agreements to which knowledge." Eleven questions were asked over the air Monday night. "How many feet in a Scotland Yard?" was one of them, and "Do you think a croquette ever makes a good wife?" another. If this is the best the United States Government can do in unruffled international relations for even the way of an "educational" program, we'll continue to string along with the commercial broadcasts. The avow their respective intent to get as best place to go today for a goober, we should say, much for themselves as possible, regardis not to a peanut stand—as kindly explained by the Office of Education in the answers to its questionsbut to the bureau in which this knowledge test (part of a $75,000 work-relief project) was incubated.

HOW CARE SAVES LIVES.

A blind man stands on the curb at a busy intersection. His white cane attracts attention, and someone going his direction slows down, takes him by the arm and carefully pilots him to the other side of the street.

This act of good will is a common happening in St. Louis, where there are upward of 1000 blind no matter what his biological characteristics, his persons. Does it occur to those who see it from day to day what it would mean if persons with sight exercised the same care in crossing the street when alone as these voluntary custodians display whose physical qualities would be scorned by the when escorting blind persons through traffic?

Figures compiled by Reyburn P. Hoffmann, secretary-manager of the St. Louis Safety Council, show that in the last 16 years, 2059 persons have been may be. WHAT MISSOURI SPENDS.

How the cost of government has mounted in Missouri was told in detail by Curtis Betts in the Sunday Post-Dispatch. It has gone up 1200 per cent in 30 years. The 1905 Legislature appropriated a total of $12,000,000, in round numbers, for the 1905-06 biennium. Last year the Legislature appropriated $144,000,000 for the blennium of 1935-36.

It goes without saying that public opinion approves much of this expenditure. In the name of social service, the State has engaged in many activimeant something divorced from reality, the answer is ties undreamed of in "the good old days," which no that the new plan, so far as we can see, is a highly proponent of thrift would abandon or even curtail. Yet no one doubts that the business of government could be operated much less expensively, without the sacrifice of any needed function.

The disturbing aspect of the situation is reflected

But with the constantly increasing revenues, the State never seems to have any surplus funds. Notwithstanding an increase of $1,054,506 in income taxes last year . . . and in addition $5,158,-280 in sales tax and $4,839,632 in liquor taxes which were not in force in 1933, the State revenue fund at the beginning of this month showed a balance of only $680,121.30.

Here is a fund of more than $11,000,000, against which the only emergency expenditure of conse quence was the $4,950,000 for unemployment relief But the arithmetical balance of, say $6,000,000, has dwindled to $600,000. What's become of the rest?

The answer is obvious. Easy come, easy go. That is the trouble with the political management of the taxpayers' money. Somewhere along the routeand not much farther—there must be a stop.

ERIN GO WRONG.

To celebrate the festival of the week, the Chicago Herald and Examiner presented its readers with a full-page map of Ireland, resplendent in rich shamrock green, flanked by a handsome colored print of St. Patrick in his bishop's robes. The map should delight the eye of any Irish reader, with its pleasant Ould Sod place names: O'Donnegan, Dungarvan, Mc-Gillicuddy, Fitzeustace, Fitzpatrick, McCoglin, O'Gallaghan and so on. But the Gaelic subscribers' delight must have turned to wrath when they noted a name near the bottom of the map: Queenstown.

Originally, this city was called Cove of Cork. When Queen Victoria visited there in 1849, its name was changed to Queenstown. After the Free State came into being in 1922, that tribute to a foreign sovereign was effaced and Cobh (meaning "cove") took its place. Restoring it to the map of the Saorstat Eireann, and a St. Patrick's day map in parmethod, by which candidates indorsed by the bar ticular, will lead Mr. Hearst's Irish readers to sus-

SUGGESTION FOR PHI BETA KAPPAS.

It is high time the Phi Beta Kappas got together to save the good name of the order. Not long ago, one of them-the editor of the American Scholar, the society's erudite magazine, at that-was among the first to go down in a spelling bee which pitted adults against school boys. Now comes the spring issue of the Key Reporter, which reveals the members at one another's throats over the pronunciation of the Greek letters in the name. Is it Phi "Bayta" Kappa or Phi "Beeta" Kappa? From New Haven to Java and from Washington, D. C. to Athens, wearers of the golden emblem of scholastic attainment are taking sides. A University of Chicago graduate comes out for "Bayta," while a member of the Brown chapter, living in Oakland, Cal., is just as emphatcally in favor of hopelessly complicating the situation by starting a dispute as to whether Phi is "Fie" or "Fee."

Far be it from us to enter into the fray as partisans of any school of Phi Beta Kappa phonetics. But we do have a suggestion: Before the controversy brings this historic society to the point of dissolution, why not put the matter up to a halfdozen members whose regular business is settling tough problems? Their names and their chapters are: Charles Evans Hughes, Brown '81; Louis D. Brandeis, Harvard '77; James Clark McReynolds, Vanderbilt '82; Harlan F. Stone, Amherst '94; Owen J. Roberts, Pennsylvania '95, and Benjamin N. Cardozo,

FASCISM AND MEDICINE.

The nation-wide "co-ordination" which followed the advent of Nazi-ism in Germany of course included medicine. Severe regulations set forth who may practice medicine, all members of the politically and racially proscribed groups being barred. It is perhaps less commonly known that the Nazis also have rules as to how medicine shall be practiced. A paragraph translated from the Journal of the Munich Medical Society is illuminating in this re-

The question of inheritance factors in the practice of medicine was discussed by W. Brandt. The degree of faithfulness in the treatment of the sick should be governed by the extent to which the patient is of value from the point of view of his biological inheritance. It is not proper to treat the less worthy as faithfully as one would those of meritorious biological in heritance who are of real value to the welfare

The ethics of medicine, as upheld throughout the world and notably set forth in the oath of Hippoc rates, thus are wholly cast aside. It is one of the finest traditions of medical science that the physician shall use his utmost skill with every patient, rank or his financial standing. Nor is the biological factor the only valid guide to a citizen's worth to the state. The world has had many creative geniuses callous Nazi viewpoint.

Germany Eyes the Ukraine

Projects for colonies and for "Mittel Europa" have been laid aside, and Germany now dreams of wresting Ukraine from Russia, writer says; Nazi "amateur imperialists" think Poland and Japan would aid in war, while France and England, disliking Communism, might remain neutral, but if not, coalition could defeat them.

From an Article by Alvin Johnson, Economist, in the Yale Review.

HE German demands are fairly definite. Germany really wants contiguous territory, not distant colonial possessions exposed to the attack of any country or coalition that might control the sea, and involving the maintenance of a navy whose cost would vastly exceed any possible commer-

Before the World War, many of the wisest Germans saw a great future for their country in the penetration, peaceful or otherwise, of the Balkans. The Austrians, Hungarians, Bulgarians and Turks could have been counted on as friendly collaborators in such an enterprise; the Bohemians, Serbs and Rumanians would have had to be reduced by diplomatic or military power. With the exception of Austria and what was formerly Bohemia, all this territory was then, and still is, comparatively undeveloped. With this region drawn into her orbit. Germany would have come much nearer to the self-sufficiency that every military people desires. The argument for Mittel Europa is as good today as it was in 1914, or better. obstacles lie in the attitude of France and Italy. France would probably not abandon the Little Entente to its fate, nor has Italy been prepared to give up her own Balkan ambitions. Therefore, the German expansionists have worked out a new e, expansion in co-operation with Poland at the expense of Russia. Wrest the whole Ukraine from Russia. Give Germany a corridor through Galicia and a broad Western strip of the Ukraine extending to the Black Sea, Give Poland Lithuania in as she might care to defend. Once such an enterprise had been put through, Germany would have a significant accession of territory which she could treat as virtually empty for settlement by Ger mans. For it is assumed that the world would not object to the expulsion of a Com-munistic population. In addition, Germany would have Poland solidly bound to her by complicity in the piratical expedition, the gains from which Poland could never hope ld without German support.

exchange for the Polish Corridor and so much of the Eastern part of the Ukraine

In its bald outlines, the project sounds fantastic. What would Russia be doing while Germany and Poland were carving up the Ukraine? It is pointed out that she would have her hands full keeping Japan from taking all Eastern Siberia up to Lake According to the solemn assur ances of European visitors who allege command of inside information, Germany and Poland will not move against Russia until Japan is ready to strike, and vice versa Russia is strong, but could she stand up against such a coalition?

But how about France and England? It is argued that the ruling classes of both France and England regard Russian Communism as a constant menace. Is it not ossible that they might regard with com-clacency the dismemberment of Russia? With Germany deep in the East, there would be little likelihood that she would care to embroil herself with the West. It may assumed that, for a generation at least, Germany would be a "satisfied" nation. At least this is how the German amateur im-perialists think the French and British ought to feel. But it is admitted that they might possibly feel otherwise. They might look very suspiciously upon a German arm extending to the Black Sea and enfolding the Balkans. It is not impossible that the French at least would fight.

If they did, there would be a possibility of drawing Italy in on the side of Germany. For just as Nazi Germany dreams of reach ing into the East and controlling the Balkans, and imperial Japan dreams of controlling the whole Asiatic coast from Bering Straits down to Singapore, so Italy dreams of controlling the whole Southern coast of the Mediterranean, particularly Algiers and Morocco. Both Algiers and Morocco are relatively empty territory, capable of absorbing much of Italy's surplus population.

The enormous effort Italy is making to subjugate Ethiopia, a territory unfit for Italian colonization, and destined forever to weigh heavily on the Italian budget, is an indication of the importance Italy imputes to North Africa, the whole of which she expects to inherit when the British Empire be But if Germany, Japan and Italy come to be pitted against Russia and France, what will England be doing? In the opinion of the German amateur imperialists, England ought to remain neutral. As the price of British neutrality, Germany would agree not to go beyond defensive warfare against France, and to refrain from annexing French territory-even Alsace-Lorraine. What interest would Britain have in sup ing the status quo in the Balkans? Would whether Algiers and Morocco remained in French hands or passed over to Italy, which alone has the population to develop them? amateur map-makers feel that England ought to remain neutral. But even if she did not, would not a coalition of Germany and Poland, Japan and Italy, be strong enough to win? It may be assumed that in such a struggle the Balkans would

Such is the architecture of the international house of cards. It does not look reassuring. We may be entirely convinced that the eastward expansion of Germany, the Asiatic mainland ambition of Japan, the African dreams of Mussolini are pieces of cosmic folly, anachronistic, absurd, destined to react disastrously in the end upon those who engage in them. For all that, an attempt be made to realize those dreams, and whole world may be plunged into war. The imperial eagles may be fated to try one more flight before they disappear into the darkness of history. It will be their last

In the Florida Mud

From the Washington Post. S an example of dubious administrative

A san example of dublous anal is out-It was indorsed by the President in a moment of idealistic exuberance after a steam er had grounded in the Florida Keys, en dangering the lives of its passengers. Apparently, Mr. Roosevelt had forgotten the numerous adverse reports on the propose by army engineers and other petent authorities. At any rate, he ignored the best judgment of his Public Works Administrator, Secretary Ickes, and launche $138,000,000 project with an allocation of $5,000,000 from the work-relief fund. Action in haste is excusable, especially when prompted by humanitarian motives. Since the original $5,000,000 allotted to the ship canal was spent, however, the President has had ample opportunity to reflect upon the desirability of the undertaking. Groups of Florida citizens, with the support of some geological experts, have expressed fears that the canal may drain the underground water from large areas of fer-tile land and thus impair its value. Investigators have concluded that revenue from the canal will never repay the investment. Of more fundamental importance, the House of Representatives recently refused to appropriate money for continuation of the work on the ground that this immense proj ect had never been approved by Congress. In spite of these numerous indication that a mistake has been made, work on the canal is still going forward. Three days after the House Appropriations Committee had eliminated funds for this and other questionable undertakings from the War Department supply bill, the chief executive added $200,000 to the canal fund from the work-relief appropriation. Even if Congress finally refuses to make any specific appropriation to build a canal which some shipping companies regard as useless, the administration may seemingly go ahead pouring funds into the Florida mud.

This is the very antithesis of responsible administrative procedure. Unless Congress is ready to abdicate its authority over the national purse strings, it should take the moral to heart. The next relief appropri tion must be drawn in such terms that the administration cannot, at discretion, proceed with undertakings which inquiry by the legislative arm may prove to be unde

KANSAS AND ITS BEER. From the Kansas City Journal-Post.

THE drinking of beer was once a moral issue in Kansas, but no longer so. Beer is being sold without legal authorization all over the State-even on Sunday, when its sale is prohibited in wet Missouri. Kansas believes it is immoral to tax that which it morally drinks. Taxation would be an acknowledgment of the legality of the beer trade, and the State shudders at the

Thus it loses large amounts annually is revenue which could easily be used by overished counties and school districts. The Missouri revenue from the gallonage tax and from dealers' permits was $1,141,000 in 1935. The Kansas income would be lower because of a smaller population, but in Missouri beer sales have competition from spirituous liquor. A reasonable guess is that Kansas could approximate an income of $750,000 a year if it worked out a taxation and per-

The memorandum also said 41 of 96 high school units had compulsory military training.

Earlier, Senator Copeland (Dem.) New York, in charge of the bill, read a War Department letter saying a citizenship manual prepared under department supervision in 1928 for use in Citizens' Military Training Camps had been withdrawn as controversial.

Senator Bone (Dem.) Washington charged yesterday the manual contained declarations against public ownership of power and demanded that the department "repudiate" Florida Canal Rider Loses

The Senate rejected yesterday an nendment by Senator Fletcher (Dem.) Florida, to provide $12,000. 000 to continue work on the Florida ship canal, which was started with WPA funds.

An amendment by Senator Neely (Dem.) West Virginia, to provide $8,000,000 for the Conchas Dam in New Mexico, Sardis Reservoir in Mississippi and the Bluestone Resin West Virginia was ervoir adopted.

Senator Vandenberg (Rep.) Michigan, fought the canal appropria-Contending it had been rejected by public works engineers and other federal agencies. The vote on the Fletcher amendment, which the Florida Senator had asserted would be a slap at President Roosevelt if it failed, found 17 Republicans, 20 Democrats, one Farmer-Labor and one Progressive opposing it and 31 Democrats, two Republicans and one Farmer-Labor favoring it.

Advocates of the canal said their only hope for saving the project now was to get through a special authorization measure and incorporate the funds in a deficiency bill, or count on the President making further allotments from work relief funds.

Senator Bone yesterday mada a vigorous attack on what he called War Department manual issued in 1928 for use in military schools. He said it declared "public owner-ship of power is very bad" and gave false ideas of "democracy."

"What right has the Chief of Staff of the Army to promote the interest of the private power trust?" he demanded. "What's that got to do with military training?' Bone termed the document a "contemptible" thing that ought to be repudiated.'

Senator Austin (Rep.), Vermont, also opposed the amendment, decaring no State could abandon the teaching of military tactics in land grant colleges without violating conditions of the Federal grant. "Valuable For Citizenship."

"The R. O. T. C. is a very valu-ble element for education of citizenship," he asserted. "Passage of this amendment would repudiate a solemn contract with every State Senator Benson, (Farmer-Labor) Minnesota, making his first appearance in debate, said some land grant colleges had been laboring under the assumption that they have to make military training compulsory in order to get Federal funds, but insisted that was not the case. He also complained Federal officers had tried to make the colleges adopt compulsory systems

PROPOSED VIADUCTS

Decision Likely Today on Kingshighway and Chippewa Crossing Eliminations.

The Streets Committee of the Board of Aldermen has under advisement, following a public hearing yesterday, its recommendation concerning construction of a viaduct to carry Kingshighway over the Missouri-Pacific Railroad tracks near Shaw avenue. A decision on this, and on the proposed Chippewa street viaduct, was expected today at the close of a second public hearing on the Chippewa street proposal. Both viaducts would be con-structed with Federal funds allocated to the State Highway Department for grade-crossing elimina-tion. The Kingshighway viaduct would cost $330,000 and the Chippewa street viaduct, $360,000. Estimated cost to the city, for needed land and consequential damages to adjacent property, has been esti-mated at $175,000 for the Kingshighway crossing and $60,000 for that on Chippewa.

Among those who appeared yesterday in favor of construction of the Kingshighway viaduct were W. D. Waugh, representing the Chamber of Commerce; Cyrus Crane Willmore, president of the Real Estate Exchange, who said he was present in an individual ca-pacity; Reyburn P. Hoffman, secretary of the Safety Council; Charles Hertenstein, representing the Public Service Co., and Robert B. Brooks, consulting engineer and former Director of Streets and Sew-

Brooks said he regarded the crossing as the worst traffic hazard of its sort remaining in the city. He said a traffic count showed 15,000 automobiles used the present grade crossing in a 12-hour period, and that there were 40 train movements every 24 hours.

The viaduct, which L. A. Pettus, division engineer for the city, said would resemble the existing viaduct on Kingshighway just south of Manchester avenue, was the most practical way of eliminating the hazard, Brooks said. To depress the railroad tracks, he said, would be too expensive. Hertenstein referred to traffic delays caused by freight trains crossing busy Kingshighway at grade, and said these had been as long as 21 minutes. Hoffman added that the traffic jams so created were a hazard in addition to the possibility of collisions between trains and automobiles.

Property Owners Object. Those who appeared in opposition were spokesmen for owners of property immediately adjacent to the proposed viaduct. Associate City Counselor Oliver Senti assured them that property owners should he compensated for any damage they might suffer.

R. J. Foulis, attorney for the Carondelet Foundry Co. and the South-west Real Estate Co.; A. B. Frey, attorney for several property owners, and Walter Heinecke, owner of the Heinecke Coal & Material Co., were the only ones who spoke in opposition. Heinecke said construc-tion of the viaduct would block the only avenue of access he now has to his property. Foulis and Frey called attention to an old ordinance which required the Missouri-Pacific to pay the cost of a viaduct when one should be built, but President William L. Mason of the Board of Aldermen pointed out that the railroad was in bankruptcy.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 18.—A Federal Court jury acquitted Mrs. Anne C. Parsal, former Benton Harbor (Mich.) Postmistress, late yesterday of a charge of solicit-ing political funds in a Federal building. She was suspended from her postal position by Postmaster-General Farley after her recent indictment.

The Government charged Democratic campaign contributions were olicited in 1934 in the Benton Harbor Federal Building where Mrs. Parsal had her office as administratrix of the Berrien County Relief Commission. Dan W. Potter of St. Joseph, former commission accountant, was indicted with her. Potter pleaded nolo contendere and appeared as a Government witness. He will be sentenced later by Judge

Fred M. Raymond. Potter testified he collected $600 in campaign funds from fellow employes of the relief organization, under instructions from Mrs. Parsal. Employes of the commission who testified upheld Mrs. Parsal's contention she knew nothing of any fund solicitation in the relief of-

In the five uninterrupted years of his first term as Premier, he did away with the spoils system and made the civil service permanent; he called in foreign experts to overhaul the finances of the government; a British mission reorganized the Navy and a French mission the Army; he placed agriculture under a ministry and introduced modern farming methods; education was made free, universal and compulsory; a highway and railroad construction program was started, marshes were drained and land reclaimed; acts for employers' liability, sickness and old age pensions, prevention of cruelty to animals and university extension service were passed.

The Balkan Wars.

Temporarily, the Cretan question was subordinated, but in the Bal-kan Wars which were to follow Crete gained its freedom and was joined, with other Aegean islands. to the fatherland.

Most important of the achieve ments of Venizelos in this period, was the promotion of treaties that brought into being the Balkan League, as a united front of Turkey's European enemies: Greece, Serbia, Bulgaria and Montenegro. The idea was not a new one in Balkan history, but Venizelos was the first to carry it to a success-greatly increasing his prestige. Before the peace was signed, however, King George was assassinated, and Prince Constantine, who had led the Greek forces in the field and won immense popu-larity as a soldier, ascended the Greek with a formal expression of throne. His accession marked the beginning of a long conflict be-tween him and Venizelos.

The brief Second Balkan War

was fought in the summer of 1913, with Greece and Serbia, now joined by Rumania, aligned against Bulgarla, in a struggle over the spoils of the first war. Venizelos emerged from these struggles with the acquisition of extensive territories in Epirus, Macedonia and the Aegean.

The Allies sent 13,000 troops too few to justify a bold move but enough to breach neutrality. Venizelos resigned for the second time on Oct. 5, 1915, and a successor was chosen pledged to Greek neutrality. Thereafter Serbia was overrun and a Greek frontier fort was surren dered to Bulgaria.

Again a Rebel. At that point Venizelos enlisted the aid of Admiral Koundouriotis, and together they determined lead a revolt. On Sept. 26, 1916, they secretly left Athens for Crete. To cover their flight, a man disguised as Venizelos, was left in his apartment, to appear periodically at a window, visible from the street. The conspirators rallied the islands to their cause and then went to Salonika, where a revolt already had broken out. Taking command of the rebels, the former Premier formally established a Provisional Government, with himself as its head. Eventually it was recognized by the Allied Governments.

of the King, and was on the point of moving on Athens when the Allies, in June, 1917, invoked their treaty rights as the protectors of Greece, and forced Constantine to abdicate in favor of his second son, Alexander.

Venizelos returned to Athens, dissolved his provisional government, which had been in existence eight months, reconvened the Chamber of June, 1915, which Constantine had dissolved, and assuming the premiership for the third time, took Greece into the World War. The circumstances of his return to Ath ens was a source of humiliation He felt as if he had arrived in the Allies' baggage, so to speak.

On Aug. 12, 1920, as he was leaving Paris to return to Greece two ex-officers: of the Greek Navy tried to assassinate him. Wounded in the shoulder by the first shot he threw himself across a baggage bench and escaped further injury. By Sept. 7, he was able to appear before the Greek Chamber to give an accounting of his diplomatic labors. Weakened by his wound, he spoke with difficulty, but at the end was unanimously savior of his country."

On the eve of elections, the death of King Alexander raised the dynastic issue again, and in November Venizelos was swept from power. A plebiscite was held and in December the exiled Constantine returned as king.

The terms forced on the Ottoan Government in the Treaty of Sevres were repudiated by the new National Government of Turkey and Constantine, whose restora-tion had alienated British and French support from Greece, engaged in a long disastrous struggle in Asia Minor. The peace, written at Lausanne, gave Turkey back Smyrna, Constantinople and East-ern Thrace, and provided for a great migration of Greeks from Asia Minor to the homeland.

After his repudiation at the polls in 1920, Venizelos announced his retirement and went abroad to live.

> Entering on his fourth pr ship, he collapsed twice in the Chamber and was forced by ill health to resign Feb. 4, 1924. On March 25 the dynasty was depor and the republic proclaimed. In 1926 he again definitely announced his retirement from public life. Three times more, however, he returned to the premiership. He took office in June, 1928, in a crisis between royalists and republicans.

Visit to United States. Venizelos married in 1891. His wife died in giving birth to their second son in 1895. In 1921 he married again, Miss Helena Schilizzi heiress of a Greek Chiot family established in England. He and his bride visited the United States in that year. Because of his political status at home he was pledged not to speak in public. On his few public appearances, he was introduced and bowed silently in acknowledgment of the applause.

The last attempt on the life of Venizelos was made in June, 1933, when his automobile was fired on near Athens and his wife wounded. Just before the termination of the republic in 1935 Venizelos was involved in his last revolt, directed against the royalists in power. Leaving his retirement in Crete, he espoused the rebel cause with Gen. Plastiras, another exile. Plastiras, starting to take command the land forces, was detained in Italy, and Venizelos, embarking on a man-of- FUNERAL OF EDWARD F. KIELY war, never reached the fighting front. There were 10 days of fighting. Then the rebels broke and Venizelos fied to Rhodes, an Italian island, and later to Paris. On May 5, 1935, a courtmartial sentenced the revolutionists, including Venizelos, to death. The royalists, who had crushed the revolt.

lowever, recalled the exiled King rge II, who as one of his first acts granted amnesty to Venizelo to remain in Paris.

HOURS IN TREE IN FLOOD

Three Men Finally Rescued Near Greensburg, Pa.

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 18 .-Two of three men who spent seven hours in an apple tree in the flood waters of the Conemaugh River were brought to Greensburg today for treatment, after their rescue. William Thompson Jr., 24 years old, and Ralph Davis, 34, of Boltz, Cambria County, told how they and Jesse Rohrbach were caught by the flood after an unsuccessful attempt to rescue a family from the iso-lated hamlet of Huff. Their boat capsized and the torrent threw them into the tree. State troopers, after an unsuccessful attempt to rig a workable pulley line, got a boat o the tree and the men fell in. Thompson and Rohrbach were high up in the branches, but Davis had to stand for seven hours on one foot in the crotch of the tree.

ERLOOKING THE LAKE

A clean pillow for chair car or coach passengers free of charge on night and through trains—free soap and towels in the spotless washroom; free sanitary drinking cups; inexpensive tray mealsin the chair cars and coaches of many trains. These are but a few of the small services which make the Frisco popular. Frisco was the first railroad to air-condition its trains throughout—the first railroad to introduce Snack Cars and Coach Lounges. Frisco employees are eager and earnest—and the passenger's comfort is always foremost in their thoughts. Shippers also find evidences every day of Frisco foresight, courtesy and consideration. The

for the day of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange and interfered with communications, transportation and other lines in various sections.

Various stocks received attention on the basis of current earnings and bright prospects for profits throughout the remainder of the year.

Among the financial statements that tended to stimulate optimistic sentiment were: Phelps Dodge showed consolidated 1935 net income of $1.21 a share compared with 60 cents on a somewhat larger outstanding stock total in 1934; Chesapeake & Ohio reported a net for the standing stock total in 1934; Chesapeake & Ohio reported a net for the first two months of 1936 equal to 90 cents a share compared with 53 cents in 1935; American Water Works for the 12 months ended Jan. 31 had net income of $1.40 a share as against 99 cents in the previous similar period.

Followers of the oils were interested in estimates of an increase in gasoline consumption during the early part of March of about 12 per cent over the same time a year ago.

An alteration of the administration's new revenue program was seen as a possibility in view of an increase thus far this month of more than 46 per cent in income tax collections over the like period last tra-seasonal gain over the previous (32.833,448.72).

NEW YORK, March 18.—The Rubber Manufacturers' Association announced today that consumption of crude rubber in the United States during February was estimated at 36,746 long tons, a decrease of 24.2 per cent below the January total of 48,506 long tons and 14.9 per cent under the total of 43,187 long tons for February, 1935. Total domestic stocks of crude on Feb. 29 aggregated 273,284 long tons against 276,372 long tons on Jan. 31.

The Printers' Ink index of newspaper advertising, adjusted for seasonal change, stood at 74.9 per cent for January, During February of 1935 the index stood at 73.2 per cent.

Albert L. Schomp, president of American Bank Note Co., told stockholders at the annual meeting that "business so far this year is about at the same volume as a year ago, but is holding up very well." The company is one of the leading printers and engravers of stock and bond certificates.

Corporate bond maturities during April will total $40,071,768, according to an estimate by the Standard Statistics Co. The number of bonds and notes making up the total is 110 of which 7 amount to $1,000,000 or more. March maturities amounted to $98,590,800.

Matthew 8. Sloan, chairman and president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Co., estimated that the "Katy" system had a 25 per cent gain in gross revenues for the first week in March, and an increase of 23 per cent for the present fiscal year to date. Directors of the road at their meeting passed a formal resolution again omitting the payment of semiannual interest of 2½ per cent on the 5 per cent adjustment bonds. It was first omitted in April, 1935.

Wholesale marketing circles report that jobbers and agents of chain organizations have been placing sizeable orders for canned fruits and vegetables, packaged cereais and flours for immediate and later deliveries.

Cuban exports of sugar from Jan. 1 to March 14 totaled 522,393 long tons, raw value, as contrasted with 239,563 tons during the corresponding period last year, an increase of 282,380 to

He listed three fundamental principles of the Chicago Museum, which was founded by Julius Rosenwald-all subject to revision or abandonment—as stimulation of the imagination, inspiration of amition and presentation of accurate information to the inquiring mind. "All of this," he continued, "is dependent on presenting material in an interesting manner. You must compete with all other modern endeavors that take up people's time. We have been operating for three years in an experimental capacity. We have 15 acres of floor space-a huge amount of territory which is in itself a handicap.
"There is no human being capa-

Our present area might take four hours for a tour, but we refuse to let people stay that long; two hours s enough, or, better, an hour and half. All our programs are on he theory of hitting hard in the first hour, then easing up, then getting the people out."

outstanding exhibit the speaker described was the full size coal mine of 3000-ton daily capacity, operating "synthetically" with a 2500-foot seam transferred piecemeal from the Consolidated Mine near St. Louis. The mine is in the museum basement, with surroundngs cleverly simulating a mine. It is the only part of the museum not free, the individual admission fee being 25 cents.

"Now you say, "That's Coney Island," Kreusser remarked, "but it's serious Coney Island. Why ask people to imagine themselves 500. feet underground when they've never been there? We've had 400,000 persons spend half an hour in our

Some other exhibits mentioned by the director were: Oil refinery. showing the whole process of handling from crude oil to sales; a rolling mill, visualizing what it might take two days to see in a commercial plant; a diver cutting steel under water with a torch at 7000 degrees, suggesting the possibility of future commercial proan operating model of Boulder Dam, taking into account economic and financial implica-tions; a stabilizing gyroscope for an ocean liner; demonstration of how a flyer must think in three dimensions; salt refining by flooding the mine and recrystallizing the output; torpedo operation, showing a 100-horsepower motor in the space of a derby hat; how music is made, from the standpoint of mechanics; how the ancient Romans built the Appian Way.

Avoiding Monotony.

"The interesting part," said Kreusser, "is that all these things teach principles and bring out the 'try-it-yourself' interest. They serve to answer the question, 'What are we going to do tomorrow when we can't go on doing the things we are doing today?' We have found that people won't read labels and that it is preferable to have attendants give explanations. The simple things, the things easiest to get, are the most interesting. Complication scares the very individual we want to reach." Many of the attendants have been dextrous young graduates of engineering schools, paid 50 cents an hour for lectures to visitors, and shifting from subject to subject during the day to avoid monotony. It is the expectation that each of them will be absorbed by industry within a year after employment. Kruesser suggested that, with the development of several of such museums in this country, traveling exhibits might be developed. He outlined the 10 departments into which the institution has been divided as follows: Physics; chemistry; medicine, hygiene and the story of life; agriculture, including textiles and forestry; geology and mineral industries; power-muscle, wind, water, fuel; printing and communication; public transportation; libraries.

The President's Corporation Tax Bill By Dorothy Thompson

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Recipes That Date Back to Pirate Days Notes on Styles

PART FOUR

OME time ago I decided that it

Maynard Keynes. After that I am

between distinguished gentlemen. know now that there is one field

This is a modest preface to say-ing a few diffident words about the President's proposed tax on surplus earnings of corporations, now under consideration by Congress. About this tax, there are the most heated differences of opinion. There is, for instance, Mr. W. J.

Cameron's view. He is Henry Ford's radio voice. Mr. Cameron, it can be presumed, speaks for most of our corporation directors, and for once, and just to show how mplicated this money business is, aymond Moley agrees with him.

Mr. Cameron apparently believes that the money economy in which we live is essentially the same as was Pharaoh's economy in the days of that most famous of all brain trusters: Joseph. Joseph, you re-member, was the bright boy who, being the victim of a pogrom—inflicted on him, however, by his own brothers, because he was such a know-it-all, and terribly good looking besides—got into Egypt without a passport and worked himself up to be financial adviser to His Majesty. Joseph invented a way of gypping the business cycle. He didn't get his idea by honest hard work, either, but by inspiration, revealed to him in a dream. Joseph's idea was the cushioning-against-depression plan. Egypt had seven years of fine harvest, and Joseph didn't let the people eat it all up, but he put it into surplus-earnings-reserves, and kept it in storage. Then came seven years of famine, and he handed it out and saved the people, and even turned the other cheek handsomely toward the brothers who had done him wrong. The only difference between this plan and Mr. Cameron's was that Joseph (being a brain truster) lidn't leave the grain in the hands the owners but nationalized it.

N OW this isn't Mr. Marriner Eccles' idea at all. Mr. Eccles thinks that this way of beating the business cycle is very fine in a primitive economy like Pharaoh's but that it works have in an ex-tremely complicated and even visionary one like ours. Money, according to Mr. Eccles, isn't goods, but creates goods in collaboration with labor and services and there-the speculative market or into too much production of capital goods—public works, which purchasing power in turn would flow back to the corporations and could be passed on in higher wages, or dividends, or by building up depre-ciated plants, etc., and so keep cir-mating. But if any considerable part of this is kept as undivided arnings, then the more purchasing power that the Government creties the more a log jam of un-pent money accumulates to im-

So although on the surface the bject of the new corporation tax

Briefly explained, the suit prefer ence convention covers certain leaddirecting plays and discards. Every one knows that the "echo"—a discard of a high card, or of a high card followed by a lower one—is a signal to partner to lead that suit when he can. Sometimes, however the opportunity to echo does not arise. At such times it often is pos arise. At such times it often is pos-sible to use the suit preference convention. Assuming that part-ner has a choice of leads between two suits, one throws an unn pessarily high card in any suit to sigsuits; a very low card to signal for

This convention first was brought to my attention by Hy Lavinthal of Trenton, N. J., before I had seen it mentioned in print or played by any one. Since then Mr. Lavinthal has developed many uses of the principle, and many good players and analysts have joined him in discovering new ways to use this valuable convention. I saw a partscore contract defeated recently by a simple suit preference play. North, dealer.

[7 HAT, a pirate dish in a cookbook?

Oh, come now! Pirates lived exclusively on jerked beef and hard tack, did they not? Well-yes-and no. It was only when they were at sea, cruising about for vessels to plunder, that the doughty cutthroats skimped along on such Spartan rations. Ashore, or after a successful attack on a pinnace or galleon, the tropical sky was the limit. They gorged themselves on delicious foods and lusty drinks, and many a freebooter of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries left his name attached to some choice concoction which he had sampled and approved and claimed as his own.

Even the word "buccaneer," which came to have such dreadful significance for peaceable merchantmen sailing the Spanish main, originally meant nothing more violent than a man who made his living by "bucaning" beef, a method of and barbecuing learned from the Carib Indians!

These hardy, half wild "boucaniers," as the French called them, were outlaws and castaways who found sanctuary on the Island of Tortuga, near Hispaniola, Now and then they took a dugout canoe, piragua, and sailed daringly out to attack an unsuspecting galleon or pinnace. So successful were they, that they gave up their more legitimate "bucaning" for active piracy. And in a short time, all sea rovers came to be known as "buccaneers." During several months of residence in the West Indies, I was able to collect many of the old recipes which are indisputably connected with noted pirates, and which are still in use down there. I ave adapted some of them for northern palates. Others can be used exactly as they were formulated, more than two hundred years ago. The following is taken from the memoirs of that amazing pirate, Pere Labat, whose diary jovially records looted vessels, converted heathen, and delectable dinners, all in the same charming and nonchalant breath. He tells of having first tasted "Le Blaff" in Martinique. Since this fish is not known in Northern waters I use mackerel, trout or perch.

makes six to eight portions. No group of pirate recipes would be complete without a mention of the famous West Indian swizzle, which has been a favorite tropical drink from the sixteenth century up and to and including the present. It is said in St. Thomas that every new resident buys, as his first purchases in the Island, a hurricane lantern and a swizzle stick. In the an-nals of those hearty "Brethren of the Coast," as they called themselves, there are many references to this potent concoction. And the old recipe stands today exactly as then:

of sour, two of sweet, three of strong, and four of weak.

stick, which is nothing more than a long, fairly heavy twig, with several short prongs left on the end. It is rotated briskly between the palms of the hands until the drink is foamy. In the old days, of course, no ice was used. And it is still customary in the West Indies to drink the swizzle at its natural temperature.

From the time of the discovery of the Virgin Islands by Columbus on his last voyage in 1496 is to the latter part of the eighteenth century, there were intermit-tent changes of ownership between the Spaniards French, English and Danes.

The Danish influence survived the longest, and is still prevalent in St. Thomas One of the most delightful culinary treats that any guest can have there is to taste asparagus pudding. The black native cooks guard their own recipes jealously and I was not given mine until the very day I left for the States.

That it has been famous for over two hundred years is attested by a quaint letter written by an English filibuster who was entertained at dinner by the Danish governor in 1710.

"And there was served with other divers foods, a pudin the likes of which I never before did taste. Made of some edible grass, it was steamed until it was like to a flufy pilow. I wished right heartily that it could be made aboard my bark. But was told that only the Danes have the secret of its making." You might think that such a carefully guarded recipe would require an elaborate and involved process. As a matter of fact it is completely simple to make. Asparagus Pudding

One-half pound butter. Six eggs.

One and one-half cups asparagus tips (canned). One and one-half teaspoon salt. Dash of pepper.

One cup flour. One-half cup liquid from asparagus. Cream one-half the butter until very soft. Add eggs, one at a time, beating continually until well combined. liquid off asparagus and reserve. Mash tips well and beat into butter and eggs. Beat until creamy and smooth. Add salt and pepper. Add flour and liquid from asparagus alternately and beat again. Pour mixture into a well greased, plain pudding molds, and cover tightly. Set mold on a rack in a pan of boiling water. Keep level of water halfway up on side of mold. Steam 21/4 to 21/2 hours. Turn pudding out on platter and serve at once, using remaining butter, melted, as a sauce. This recipe makes six portions. One of the staples of the West Indies native diet is frequently mentioned in ka-la-lu.) It is a thick soup, named for the tropical vegetable which is one of its ingredients. I use spinach instead.

Kalaloo

One-half pound okra. Six cups hot water.

Pinch of thyme. Two teaspoons salt. Dash of pepper.

One-half pound fish, sliced (halibut or One-quarter cup flour. One and one-half tablespoons butter. One-half pound boiled ham. One-half pound fresh spinach.

Street Mode

Wash okra and cut into small pieces Add water and seasonings and boil for 15 minutes. While okra is cooking, dip slice of fish in flour and fry in butter until brown on both sides. Remove skin and bones and break into small pieces Add to okra. Chop ham coarsely and mix with uncooked spinach which been cleaned and chopped. Add to first mixture. Simmer until okra is very ten-der, about 15 to 20 minutes. This recipe makes four portions.

Lobster, Jamaican Style

One large lobster. Two tablespoons butter. One teaspoon worcestershire sauce. One teaspoon vinegar.

One-half cup bread crumbs. Cook and shell lobster and chop meat Saute in one tablespoon of the butter. Add worcestershire sauce and vinegar. Season to taste with salt and Put in a greased casserole, sprinkle with bread crumbs and dot with maining butter. Bake about 10 minutes in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) or until crumbs are browned. This cipe makes three to four portions.

Pumpkin Soup One-quarter pound salt pork, minced. Four cups water. Pinch of thyme. One bay leaf. One and one-half teaspoons salt. Dash of pepper. Two cups pumpkin, canned.

Engraved Announcements Sometimes Used When Bride Is Widow.

By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post: S it true that at my second mar-riage I may not have even one attendant? I read this in a magazine in answer to some one who was also marrying for the second time, and yet the answer allowed engraved wedding invitations to the church — which could only be taken to mean that there was to be a big wedding. Answer: You may have a maid (or matron) of honor. But bridesmaids at a second wedding would be improper. Engraved invitations Ento the remarriage of a widow are not unusual, but hand written notes are in best taste, because such a wedding should be very small. Engraved announcements are proper if the bride was a widow, but in rather questionable taste if she was a divorcee.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been shooked as well as surprised to read of a second marriage, which was socially prominent enough to rate a full column of space in papers throughout the entire country, where the bride was described as wearing a white satin dress and a bridal veil! Will you tell me if this is to be taken to mean that bridal veils have lost their significance?

Answer: I felt about this marriage much as you do. In one case the bride flouted the significance of the bridal veil, and in the other she publicly announced her first marriage to have been in name only! In either case she showed a shocking lack of taste.

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter was to have been married several months ago, but due to serious illness the wedding had to be post-poned until now. The announce-ments have all been engraved and show the date on which the wedding was to have taken place. there anything that can be done except to order new ones? Answer: It does seem a wanton extravagance to have them all done over-especially since I don't think a new date can possibly be inserted in the engraved plate. Therefore (since every one will understand), you might perhaps have "twenty-first of March" engraved on slips of matching but lighter weight paper, and paste these neatly over the words "sixteenth of No-vember." If done expertly it would writing a correction in ink would be almost as bad as a blot.

SYNOPSIS

When MARGO HAYNES accepted the offer to type a manuscript for GORDON FENWICK her hope had been that she might learn something that would enable her brother, ERIC, to prove his innocence of the crime of embeziement. For two years now Eric has been a fugitive under sentence, on trumped up evidence, for having stolen $50,000 from the office of his employer, Fenwick.

BOB CRADDOCK, however, who loves Margo and whom she loves, objects to Margo's working for Fenwick and agrees to it only when she promises to tell him all' that takes place each night at Fenwick's apartment, and to quit if Fenwick makes love to her. What Margo does not tell Bob is that Fenwick makes love to her. What Margo does not tell Bob is that Fenwick makes love to her. What Margo does not tell Bob is that Fenwick makes love to her. What Margo does not tell Bob is that Fenwick makes love to her. What Margo does not tell Bob is that Fenwick makes love to her. What Margo does not tell Bob is that Fenwick makes love to her and refuses thereafter to have anything to do with her.

Because Nolan has worked for Fenwick for 12 years and because he apparently knows much of Fenwick's affairs, Margo encourages him—even more than she means to do. Though she does not know it, Nolan hopes to marfy Margo. He goes to Fenwick with an offer to turn over to Fenwick acertain paper which he has, and which he holds over his employer, for $150,000.

when he thought of killing Nolan. One side of the sheet of paper was filled with figures, so turned it over and started making them on the other. A grim determination showed on his lips. A grayish dawn was showing through venetian blinds, but Fenwick didn't notice it. Not once did he ok at the windows.

AUTHOR'S NOTE: These anwers are given from the scientific point of view. Science puts the rights of organized society above the rights of individuals.

-My opinion is that this great -My opinion is that this great philosopher, Pascal, who, by the way, worked out a complete way, worked out a complete years up to the "32nd proposition" before he was 12 years old without ever having heard of Euclid, and who, unfortunately, abandoned pure mathematics for philosophy—was talking through his hat. I know many friendings that are founded on complete through his hat. I know many through his hat are founded on complete candor—a frank acknowledgment of each other's faults and an equally frank admiration for each other's virtues. Indeed, sound friendship must be based

-Certainly he does not. In any 2 true sense he does not love her at all. The truest statements of love in all literature is St. Paul's first letter to the Corinthians, "Love beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things. Love never faileth." Of course the infatuation of lovers is often far removed from this kind of ennobling love and is pro-foundly, intensely selfish.

EXPLANATION OF MARCH 17th CARTOON

THE BICYCLE STAMP—No one is better qualified than Arthur C. Banta to tell of the operations of the famous emergency bicycle mail service that operated in the San Joaquin Valley, California, during the few short, hectic days in 1894, when the American Railway Union and Pull man car employes were on strike. Mr. Banta operated and rode the mail route himself. And for this service he issued the unique diamond shaped green stamp which was the first green 25c stamp in the United States, first stamp to carry an illustration of a bicycle, only stamp to carry the word "Strike," only stamp referring to a labor union, and Mr. Banta is the only living person who personally issued a United Strates lead starms. a United States local stamp
